President In Key West, Fla. To Secure Rest

Seeking Couple Of Weeks Relaxation From Tedious White House Routine

OFFICIAL CALLERS BANNED FOR PERIOD

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

KEY WEST, Fla., March 7.—President Truman settled down today for a two-week rest in South Florida after pulling a man-bites-dog switch in which he interviewed me.

The chief executive, who flew to the U. S. sub base from Washington yesterday, has thrust aside all but the most urgent state affairs while here.

President Truman is in a pensive mood, despite the fact that he is very tired—tired perhaps for the first time since he has been in the White House.

Interviewed By President

I was the butt yesterday of his desire for relaxation.

In my time, I have interviewed presidents, several ministers, three kings, the sultan of Morocco, and assorted individuals of rank both high and low. But yesterday was the first time I have ever been publicly interviewed by the president of the United States.

I now know the spot President Truman is on every time we reporters confront him at his weekly news conferences, or whenever he steps on or off a plane or train.

The chief executive's daily regimen for the next two weeks—his hopes—will be plenty of sleep, twice daily swims and hours of lazing in the sun.

Not Physically Tired

His associates said that his tiredness is not physical but rather the steady wear and tear of the past few weeks in Washington in which a new Congress has come into being and in which he has launched his new administration.

This has come on top of the man-killing pace the president led through the summer and fall on his coast-to-coast campaign tour.

The lift and elation that the campaign fight gave him, however, has been replaced by the unending routine of hard work in Washington.

This has brought about a nervous fatigue which the president expects to clear away by a few (Continued on Page Two)

To a lot of youngsters around the city spring apparently has arrived. Kite flying was quite prevalent over the weekend, Pa New is informed.

One farmer in the county has been getting an early start on the spring plowing chore, Pa New notes. Several acres of farmland which had been recently plowed were noted in the county yesterday.

Apparently some of the groundhogs didn't go back in to stay for the six weeks period, in Lawrence County. A considerable number of these animals has been struck by autos on the highways recently, and killed.

Winter season now nearing a close does not seem to have been so hard on paving on state highways. "Heaved pavement" signs usually make their appearance in considerable number about this time of the year, but they are largely missing this year. Mild winter is probably responsible.

Weather conditions went from the "sublime to the ridiculous" in a short time over the week end. On Saturday, near summer-like conditions prevailed, with the mercury getting up to 65 degrees. Late yesterday, it began to chill off rapidly, and by this morning had dropped to 13 degrees.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at nine a. m. today follow:
Maximum temperature, 36.
Minimum temperature, 13.

River stage, 7.6 feet.

Statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock Sunday morning are as follows:

Daring Rescue Of Woman In Chicago

Sketches on right, show how Mrs. Lillian Paul, 39, dangling by her coat from the eighth floor window of Wacker hotel, Chicago, was rescued. Policeman Francis Sherrier (1) first tried to reach her from adjoining window. Then, as Policeman Henry Dahm (2) and Leonard Anderson (3), held his legs, Sherrier grasped her wrist as a hotel employee raised the window. Then the two, Sherrier and the woman, were hauled to safety.

More Changes Urged By Hoover Commission

By FELIX COTTEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The Hoover Commission today recommended transfer to the commerce department of government transportation activities, including the merchant marine and the coast guard.

The 12-man group, in its tenth report to Congress on government reorganization, insisted that all non-regulatory transportation operations should be grouped in the department.

This would include management of the vast merchant fleet by the Maritime Commission, railway and motor carrier safety and car service activities by the Interstate Commerce Commission, enforcement of air safety rules by the (Continued on Page Two)

Officials Silent On New Reports Of Bulgarian Arrests

SOFIA, March 7.—(INS)—Bulgarian officials refused to comment today on reported new arrests of Protestant ministers in Sofia while the fate of 15 other Protestant churchmen charged with treason was awaited.

The three judges who heard the case of the 15 clergymen begin their deliberations today and the verdicts are expected tomorrow.

The Communist prosecutor asked for death penalties for four defendants and heavy prison sentences for the other 11.

All are charged with spying for the United States and Great Britain and related black market activities.

Officials remained silent on the reports of new arrests which are believed linked to new Bulgarian moves against so-called western "imperialism" and U. S. capitalism.

House Will Open Ten-Day Hearing On Labor Measure

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—The Truman administration's drive in Congress to wipe out the Taft-Hartley law shifts to the House today.

A thirteen-man House labor sub-committee opens ten days of hearings on a measure to repeal the existing statute and re-enact a modified Wagner law.

The same bill already has been approved by the Senate labor committee, but apparently will not make any further progress in the Senate until next month because of the southern filibuster.

The House, although starting late, actually may complete action on a new labor law before the Senate.

U. N. Watching For Changes In Soviet Policy

Also Concerned Over Charges Against Russian Connected With U. N.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 7.—The United Nations is watching with intense interest and some concern today for signs that Russia's foreign policy is undergoing changes.

The departure of Vacheslav Molotov from the foreign office in favor of Andrei Vishinsky remains as much a diplomatic earthquake among the 58-nation delegations today as it was at the time of its announcement by Moscow Friday night.

Acting Secretary General Andrew Cordier—in charge of the absence in Geneva of Trygve Lie—is expecting the customary call from chief Soviet Delegate to U. N. Yakov Malik for notification of the change in the Moscow foreign office.

At the same time, Cordier is keeping a sharp eye on the second thunderbolt which struck U. N. ear-

Auto Badly Burned In Odd Accident

Damage Of $500 To Car And Clothing In Fire Sustained By Barborton, O. Family

Mr. and Mrs. George Sutton and their three children of Barborton, Ohio escaped unharmed in an odd accident on Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock on Route 422, six and a half miles east of New Castle while enroute to their home in Ohio.

The family, traveling toward New Castle, lost a rear left wheel from their 1939 Plymouth sedan and before they could get the car stopped sparks from the bouncing car ignited gasoline which had escaped from a gaping hole in the gasoline tank.

A call was put in for the Slippery Rock Township volunteer fire department which arrived later, in time to extinguish the blaze which threatened to consume the vehicle. The fire was brought under control, but not before $500 damage was done to the car and to the clothing of the Sutton family who attempted to douse the fire before firemen arrived.

The stranded family was assisted by a Youngstown resident, passing the scene who volunteered to take the Suttons to their home in Barborton.

Annual Dinner Of Lawyers Held

Bar Association Banquet At Country Club Saturday Is Outstanding Event

PITTSBURGH MAN HEARD ON TAXATION

Members of the Lawrence County Bar Association took time off from their legal duties, Saturday, to gather at the New Castle Country Club for a little relaxation and good eating, the event being the annual banquet of the Bar Association.

That the fame of these events has spread afar was evidenced by the attendance of visiting members of the bar from Beaver, Butler, and Mercer counties, who attended in goodly numbers, the guests including the Judges Morgan J. Sohn and Robert W. McCreary, from Beaver county.

Taxation Discussed

During the afternoon, a seminar was conducted at 3 o'clock, when attorney Paul G. Rodewald of Pittsburgh, discussed federal taxation, particularly income taxes, and the many changes in the 1948 tax structure.

This was followed by a social period, when those who enjoy shrimp and oysters on the half shell had an opportunity of sating themselves, and quite a few sat and sated.

A fine turkey dinner in the evening was enlivened by a special meeting of the Bar Association, with Attorney John Powers being introduced by chairman Charles Matthews, Jr., as president J. Glenn Berry. This proved highly humorous and concluded with the Elks (Continued on Page Two)

John Peter Sbarro, aged 47 years, of 817 Arlington avenue, was fatally injured at 8 o'clock this morning, when he slipped and fell from an outside crane, which he operated at the plant of the United Engineering and Foundry Company.

He expired enroute to the Jameson Memorial hospital, Coroner Charles E. Allen stated.

Mr. Sbarro had just reported for work, and it is believed his foot slipped as he was descending a short ladder into the cab of the crane, causing him to fall about 15 feet, onto a pile of angle iron in the yard of the plant, and thence to the ground.

He was found a few minutes afterwards by Jack Elliott, a fellow employee, and an ambulance was summoned, which took him to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. He had suffered a fractured skull and broken ribs, which punctured the lungs, it was stated.

Born In New Castle

Senators Seek Estimate Of Atlantic Pact Cost Before Action Is Taken

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—A threat to senate ratification of the North Atlantic alliance arose today while the United States and other prospective members drove down the stretch in their negotiations.

Two members of the senate foreign relations committee which must clear the treaty for senate action warned that the agreement may run into trouble unless the state department submits estimates on its cost to the United States.

Want Cost Estimate
These demands came from Sens. George (D) Ga., and Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, who said they will insist that substantial estimates of the alliance's cost be made public before they will support ratification.

Sen. Connally (D) Tex., chairman of the senate group, said he believes Secretary of State Acheson will have the estimates ready when the pact is submitted to the senate.

The cost of the agreement will come through the United States arming western Europe.

It has been estimated in Washington quarters that the program will cost between one and two billion dollars during the first year.

These developments came up as Secretary Acheson called a semi-final negotiating session today with representatives of Britain, Canada, France, Norway, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Danish Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen arrives in Washington Tuesday to confer privately with Acheson. It then is thought likely that he will join in the pact discussions.

Odor Seeking New Record In His Tiny Plane

Leaves Honolulu In Attempt To Fly Non-Stop To New York

(BULLETIN)
HONOLULU, March 7.—(INS)—Bill Odom passed the halfway point today on the dangerous over-water section of his attempted flight from Honolulu to New York in a tiny single-engine plane.

He passed over a coast guard vessel stationed halfway between Honolulu and San Francisco—about 1,100 miles from each—at 4:30 a. m. (6:30 a. m. PST).

He was flying more than 100 miles south of the main course between the two points in order to avoid a storm, but was meeting clear weather on his course.

Odom left Honolulu last night with the hope of setting a new distance record for light planes by flying more than 5,000 miles non-stop to New York. He hopes to reach Teterboro, N. J., airport at about 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow.

Near Record Waters Cause Big Damage

Missouri River Communities Feel Effects Of Swollen Stream

SEVERAL STATES IN FLOODED AREA

(By International News Service)

Residents of at least one flood-ravaged Iowa town readied for mass typhoid inoculations today after rampaging, near-record waters caused an estimated $500 thousand worth of damage in Missouri Valley homes, pumping stations and a gas plant.

One person, George W. Johnson, 77, died when he was trapped in his flooded home there.

Missouri river communities remained on the alert today for the effects of swirling, ice-clogged waters.

Hundreds Of Acres Flooded

South of Nebraska City, Neb., hundreds of acres of farm lands were inundated by waters which broke through levees to a record crest of 25.8 feet.

Near Atchison, Kans., muddy waters mounted nearly a foot higher when ice jams cleared and backlogs rushed downstream.

Waters from four streams force evacuation of scores of farm families in the area of Ashland, Neb.

Apparently hardest-hit by the early spring floods was Missouri valley where more than 1,000 persons jammed churches and public buildings after being forced from their homes.

Soviet Protests Over Gubitchev Arrest Ignored

NEW YORK, March 7.—(INS)—New York's spy-hunting federal grand jury was called into special session today to hear the government's espionage case against Brooklyn-born Judith Coplon and Valentin A. Gubitchev, Soviet U. N. aide.

Vigorous Soviet protests over the arrest and jailing of Gubitchev were ignored as the government moved firmly ahead with its case against the Russian and Miss Coplon, 27-year-old justice department employee.

Expected Indictments
Special Assistant U. S. Attorney General Thomas J. Donagan, who has been directing the continuing grand jury investigation of Communist espionage, indicated he has little doubt that stiff indictments will be returned against the couple, seized in New York last Friday night.

Donagan noted that nothing prevents the grand jury from indicting the pair for even more serious crimes than charged against them at their arraignment Saturday.

The preliminary charges against Gubitchev and Miss Coplon include "conspiracy to commit espionage" and other counts carrying maximum penalties of five years in prison or $10,000 fines, or both.

Donagan declined to say what stiffer crime he might have in mind, or the possible penalties.

Senator's Death Halts Filibuster For Short Period

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—The bitter filibuster fight will be halted temporarily today with the senate recessing out of respect to a southern member who died on the eve of his maiden speech on the gag issue.

Sen. Joseph Melville Broughton (D) N. C., died at Bethesda naval hospital Sunday morning following an acute heart attack.

As is the custom, the senate will meet and recess immediately after Vice President Barkley names a delegation of senators to attend Broughton's funeral in Raleigh, N. C., tomorrow.

Broughton, who served little more than two months of his six-year term, had been scheduled to join today in the Dixie filibuster-to-save-the-filibuster with his first speech in the senate.

Meanwhile, an attempt to gag the first phase of the talkathon is expected before the second week of debate ends.

Suit Is Filed To Declare Loyalty Order Not Valid

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—A suit to declare President Truman's loyalty order unconstitutional was filed in the federal district court today on behalf of 26 post office employees facing action under the edict.

The suit is the first full scale legal test of the order. It asks the court to enjoin further loyalty proceedings and to reinstate all suspended employees to their former jobs.

It is a remarkable story of present day South Africa and tells of the sadness and grief of the natives and the desolation in some parts of the beautiful country. The theme shows how love and compassion of people, with good intentions, help to overcome the grief caused by man's inhumanity to man.

Refreshments were served to members and several guests. Hostesses for the day were: Mrs. Ray J. Robison, Mrs. Fred Clemens, Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, Mrs. Fred Donaldson, Mrs. E. J. # Four Convicts Make Escape At Muskegon, Mich.

Tunnel Through 18-Inch Mortar And Brick Wall With Spoons

MUSKEGON, Mich., March 7.—(INS)—Four convicts escaped early today from the Muskegon County jail by tunnelling through an 18 inch mortar and brick wall with spoons.

Sheriff Axel Pederson said one of the men was armed but did not state how the weapon was obtained. The escapees formed a hole 14 inches by 2 feet, squirmed through, scaled a low wall and fled.

The sheriff said all prisoners in the jail must carry spoons at all times.

Road Blocks

No trace of the convicts was found. Road blocks were established and state police were alerted near Howard City, Mich., after two of the escapees were reported in the vicinity.

Two of the prisoners headed for Howard City where the brother of one of the men was living. The brother fled to police and said "I don't want to get mixed up in this."

The convicts were identified as Eddie Clay Robinson, 18, of Muskegon County; Joe Sheldon, 34, Chicago; Ralph McDonald, 46, no address; and Edward O. Harp, 20, of Howard City, Mich.

NEAR RECORD WATERS CAUSE BIG DAMAGE

vided them with food and clothing in an effort to offset possible disaster. Pressure in water mains was lowered when the pumps went out of action and only enough water for drinking purposes trickled through outlets.

Flood crests at Atchison equalled those of 1881, when the waters swirled 6.63 feet above flood stage.

The stricken area was spotted with huge ice floes left behind in fields yesterday when some of the higher lands began to drain free. A railroad bridge in Atchison was damaged by acre-sized floes which battered it through the worst of the sudden drainage yesterday.

Rail and highway traffic was halted in a 60 square mile section of the Missouri river valley across the state line from Atchison. Early today 80 per cent of the valley still was under water.

PRESIDENT IN KEY WEST, FLA. TO SECURE REST

days of complete relaxation away from the endless grind of official duties in the White House.

Physically, the president is in top shape.

Change Of Scene Needed

He and his doctor have simply felt that a change of scene for the time being will work wonders in putting him into the frame of mind to tear into his heavy burden of critical national and international issues once he returns to Washington.

The president has most of his staff with him. He is in immediate touch with the White House through open telephone and telegraph wires. The staff is carrying the burden of his work while here, submitting to him only those matters of top importance requiring a presidential decision.

The president has ruled out official callers. He does not expect any officials to fly down from Washington to burden him with long discussion sessions. He has long put up the official bar against any news conference while here.

U. N. WATCHING FOR CHANGES IN SOVIET POLICY

ly Saturday with the arrest of Russian-born Valentin Gubitchev by the F.B.I. on charges involving U.S. national security.

Gubitchev has been suspended from the U.N. staff of engineers. Cordier stressed that as a non-diplomatic employee of U.N., Gubitchev does not rate immunity privileges contained in the headquarters agreement concluded with the United States a year ago.

Gubitchev, who came to Lake Success from Moscow on evident recommendation by the Soviet government, took an oath of loyalty to U.N. in 1946 which obligated him to drop his passport and allegiance to the Russian government. Cordier indicated that any subsequent establishment of the violation of that oath will quickly bring Gubitchev's expulsion from U.N.

Top level U.N. officialdom is particularly concerned and disturbed over the Gubitchev development because only six months ago the organization was labelled "a spy nest" in the U.S. Senate by a minor official of the State department. Although the U.N. subsequently was absolved by the State department and the official reprimanded, it caused a huge cry which remained alive for some time.

Installment Buying Restrictions Relaxed

Modified Government Restrictions On 'Time' Purchases Are Now In Effect

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—Americans found it easier today to buy automobiles and 12 other household articles on the installment plan.

Sharp, modified government restrictions on "time" purchases became effective throughout the nation at the opening of business today.

The modifications were ordered by the Federal Reserve board in the light of falling commodity prices, increased unemployment and a substantial drop in the amount of outstanding consumer credit.

Board officials, who worked out the new controls, said they expect no substantial increase in retail business as a result of their action.

Businessmen greeted the announcement with the statement that it is a "step in the right direction." Some, however, want the restrictions completely abolished or eased further.

Caldwell Is Speaker

Concluding the program was an address by Attorney William J. Washington, he also stated, did not enjoy good health, and was beset with numerous afflictions, which might have made an invalid of a less-determined person.

Even in his love affairs, he had difficulties, and ended by marrying a widow with several children.

House Probers Turn Attention To UN Personnel

Explore Possible Communist Spy Activities Centered At Lake Success

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—The house un-American activities committee was summoned to a locked-door session today to explore possible communist spy activities centered at United Nations headquarters at Lake Success.

Sen. Mundt (R) S. D., a former committee member, preceded the meeting with a charge that Americans fired by the state department for security reasons are being hired at the UN.

The congressional spy probers are scheduled to hear preliminary reports of investigators who were assigned to check whether Russian or Soviet satellite UN personnel have engaged in espionage activities.

Result of Arrests
An influential member disclosed that open hearings may be held as a result of the weekend arrest of Miss Judith Coplon, justice department employee, and Valentin A. Gubichev, Russian UN architect, by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on espionage charges.

The justice department's case against Miss Coplon and Gubichev was scheduled for presentation to a New York grand jury at 11 a. m. EST.

Commenting on reports that "secrets" of other government employees may be involved in espionage, justice department officials said they will investigate "all angles".

else I always end up by being just me (I wish there were smaller letters than this to set the "me" in).

I listen to the radio. I hear the predictions of things to come.

In a booming voice the commentator predicts that in the year 2059 the present automobile will be obsolete and the human race will be transported by an entirely different method.

The announcer says that the commentator is 147 per cent correct in his predictions.

And who is there to deny him?

I couldn't do that for a million dollars, no matter how much I rehearse.

I made a prediction that we would have a mild winter because the Woolly Bear had wide stripes on his back and my prediction went wrong in more than half of the country.

50 per cent correct in reverse!

Then there is that other one. "My third exclusive. If Spring does not occur on March 21 this year I am reliably informed that there will be an investigation."

And this one.

"As I told you exclusively three years ago the divorce rate in this country has gone up alarmingly except in those states where it has gone down."

No, I'll never be important. I just went out for the paper. It's raining outside. My wife said, as I went out, "Wipe your feet when you come back in."

Did I shout back "Don't order me around!"

I did not. I wiped my feet.

Fathers And Sons Banquet At Enon

Hundred And Fifty Attend IOOF Event At Enon Valley; Montgomery Speaker

Odd Fellows lodge of Enon Valley sponsored a father and son banquet on March 3. It was a community affair and was attended by about one hundred fifty men and boys.

Frank O'Rourke, Noble Grand of the Lodge, presided in a very efficient manner. Mrs. Charles McBride acted as pianist. Rev. Beil of the Enon Presbyterian church gave the invocation.

During the banquet there was group singing and a quartette consisting of Messrs Clarence Lipp, Lew Howard, John McKim and Carl Paden, sang a number of beautiful selections.

Frank O'Rourke addressed the group and introduced Marty Clayton who toasted the sons, and Samuel McBride who toasted the fathers. Carl Montgomery of Bessemer, the speaker of the evening proved to be interesting and entertaining.

Gifts were presented to I. G. Studebaker, the oldest father, Wm. Dannels, the youngest father and Dickie Hogue, the youngest son.

Rev. Dyke gave the benediction. The dinner was served by the wives of the board of trustees, the dance committee, and the good of the order committee of which Mrs. Frank O'Rourke was general chairman. A delicious steak dinner was served. The table was artistically decorated in traditional St. Patrick colors, green and white.

Constable Attacked Serving Warrant

Constable Suffered A Possible Skull Fracture, Was In Fair Condition Today

McKEESPORT, Pa., March 7.—(INS)—Angelo Burnett, the 38-year-old constable who suffered a possible skull fracture while serving a warrant on a man accused of attempted rape, was in a fair condition today in McKeesport hospital.

Burnett attempted to arrest Lee Showalter, 45, of McKeesport after Mrs. Elizabeth Blair, McKeesport, claimed Showalter had struck her on the head with a poker and tried to attack her Saturday night.

While Burnett was reading the warrant to Showalter, he allegedly grabbed a poker and hit the constable on the head. Showalter was placed in the McKeesport jail where he was identified as her assailant by Mrs. Blair.

He will have a hearing tonight in an alderman's office on the attempted rape charge.

COLIC
A hundred years ago if a person had a pain under his belt he called it colic.

He did not know much about it. He put poultices on it. Perhaps the doctor bled him or gave him medicine.

After a while the doctors learned about appendicitis. Nowadays the doctors know how to take care of appendicitis better.

When a person gets a severe pain in the abdomen he should not take salts or oil or laxatives. He may have appendicitis and these things make it worse.

The doctor will find out what the trouble is. If appendicitis is found early and treated properly there are very few deaths.

Senior High Band Concert Planned

Varied Program To Be Presented In High School Auditorium Friday, March 11

New Castle Senior High school's 100-piece band will present a public concert in the school auditorium Friday, March 11, at 8:15 p.m.

Under the baton of Joe F. Replogle, director of instrumental music, the completely uniformed group will play a varied program designed to please admirers of any type of good band music.

A great variety of special features that are rarely performed by high school instrumental groups have been included on the program. Among them is a drum quartette consisting of David Rowe, Albert Burick, Paul Gibson and Ralph Fontana, playing the melody of "Listen to the Mocking Bird."

Popular Music
James Maxwell, John Stoffie, Harvey Groden and Paul Fazzone form a trombone quartette that will play a modern arrangement, "Men from Mars." Other special numbers are a trumpet trio, bassoon solo, two trombone solos and a trumpet solo, "Carnival of Venice." Popular musical tempos will be presented in "Jungle Jump" and "Bambola."

The full band accompanies all of the special features with the exception of the trombone quartette. Two of the best liked concert band numbers have also been selected for presentation. These are "Mountain Majesty" whose melodic strains have all the beauty and depth of tone as the largest pipe organ and the oft programmed "Prelude and Fugue in G Minor," by Bach.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased at the Senior High school office or from any member of the band.

John Alden, who married Priscilla Mullins after having courted her for his friend, Capt. Miles Standish, settled and lived most of his life after coming from England on the Mayflower, at Duxbury, Mass. From 1633 to 1675, Alden was assistant to the governor of the colony, and frequently acted as governor.

WASHINGTON CALLING

a private talk with the President and what was said at that talk has been kept a secret by the two men. In a forthright and hard-boiled way Johnson went out to get the money for his starving party. He was amazingly successful, the contributions including generous gifts, according to rumor, from certain large corporations. In private life Johnson is a lawyer with a large income from a practice which takes in considerable activity in Washington.

Johnson has loyal friends who admire his capacities, as well as his enemies. In the narrow sense at least this is a political appointment. The President has given a vital post to a party man who served him well in a time of dire need. Therefore, Johnson will be under particularly close scrutiny. The public and Congress will want to know whether he has the essential statesmanship as well as political loyalty.

Two Brothers Confess To Tavern Robberies

Brothers Had Been Hiding In Ambridge Apartment For Several Months

AMBRIDGE, Pa., March 7.—(INS)—Ambridge police today had cracked a series of ten puzzling tavern robberies with the arrest of two brothers who had been hiding out in an apartment near Ambridge for several months.

The two youths, Peter Bjelivuk, 20, and his brother, Michael, 18, confessed Sunday to the burglaries which netted them $1,600 in nine months time. Police said the pair sometimes used the name Billick. Allegheny county detectives and Ambridge police arrested the brothers Saturday night. According to police, the brothers were health fanatics who ate only bananas and other fruit and who used gymnastic dumbbells as part of their muscle-building program. Officers recovered nearly one-third of the loot. The two muscle men said they would leave their apartment at night, board a bus for Ambridge and proceed by foot to the tavern which they intended to rob.

JOB'S UPON A TIME

ONE OF THE most brilliant of after-dinner speakers was this astute lawyer and politician. Born in Peekskill, N. Y., April 23, 1834, he was admitted to the bar in 1853. Becoming attorney for a railroad in 1866, within 16 years he had risen to its presidency. He also served as United States senator from 1899 to 1911. One of the oddities of his career is the number of high offices offered him which he declined. He refused the post of minister to Japan, election to the U. S. Senate in 1885, and declined to accept the post of secretary of state in the cabinet of President Benjamin Harrison. He died April 5, 1928. Who was he? Chauncey Depew.

ONE NIGHT in 1879 a strikingly beautiful chorus girl danced out on the stage in a production of H. M. S. Pinafore, and the career of one of the most glamorous stars of the American stage had begun.

Born in Clinton, Ia., she studied vocal and violin music after graduation from the convent of the Sacred Heart, Chicago. Her rise was rapid. She sang ballads in Tony Pastor's theater, and appeared as prima donna with Weber and Fields. She also starred in many opera roles and in vaudeville in the U. S. and England. She was married four times. Her famous "hour-glass" figure was the envy of most women of her time. She died Sept. 5, 1925. Name her—Lillian Russell.

SHOALS AHEAD

The seven-to-five division of the nonpartisan Hoover Commission over the question of changes in government accounting procedures, and the thinly veiled warnings of the dissenting minority certainly proved that sacrosanct territory has been invaded. The recommendation, in which the majority concurred, would have had the effect of clipping the wings of the General Accounting Office, which is an agent of Congress.

According to the report of the Hoover task force, there are serious weaknesses in the fiscal operations of the government. Some of the practices, the commission says, date back to the time of Alexander Hamilton, when the budget was $4,000,000 a year—less than one ten-thousandth of the current budget.

The commission is probably being kind when it says that these practices are "totally inadequate." But this charge isn't what bothers dissenting Congressmen. It is the proposal to set up an "accountant general" under the Treasury Department, which would, in effect, move the authority over accounting systems from Congress to the executive branch of government.

The dissenters think it amounts to a demotion for the comptroller general, who gets his power from Congress. The commission says that isn't so, and that there would be no conflict between the present position of the comptroller general and its recommendation.

Offhand, this controversy would seem to be just another case of what Hoover calls "grasshopper bites"—resistance to change—until it becomes evident that the dissenters are deadly serious. Otherwise would they go so far as to say that "a similar proposal was a major factor in bringing about the defeat of the entire reorganization program in 1937?" The commission may find shoals ahead.

TIMELY WARNING

Inasmuch as all communists—and most fellow travelers—get and take orders from the same source, there is no element of surprise in the announcement that the communist party in the United States will fight for Russia in the event of war. Equally to be expected was the references to Wall Street, predatory interests and American imperialism. Those are stock expressions in the Moscow propaganda dictionary.

These communist threats have followed one another so closely from all parts of the world that they were obviously inspired. What is the Soviet game? If the purpose is to frighten the United States into a retreat to the Roosevelt policy of appeasement, Russia is backing a forlorn cause. If the object is to show communist solidarity and thus put steel into the bending backs of the Russians at home, it may have a measure of temporary success.

The American people will not be scared by this latest exhibition of Soviet cold war strategy. On the contrary, their determination will be all the greater to see the present conflict through and not to rest until the communist threat to the American system of free enterprise has been obliterated.

No one ever had reason to doubt that communists in the United States would, in the event of war, do everything in their power to sabotage this nation's military efforts. That was their program in World War II until the United States started the $12,000,000,000 stream of lend-lease to flowing to Moscow.

The communist menace has been fully exposed by the House Committee on un-American Activities, harassed though it was by both Roosevelt and Truman. There are still too many pro-communists in Washington, working fang and nail to put communistic programs into effect in this country.

NOT READY TO UNHITCH

Insistence of the administration at Washington that the government build steel plants, if the steel industry won't, to assure this country of enough capacity for its protection, is mystifying in view of the facts about America's gains and present standing in that field.

Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, reminds the country that in 1929 it had a total steel-making capacity of 71,400,000 tons. Ten years later, despite a depression, that capacity had grown to 81,800,000 tons. Today steel mills in the U. S. have a capacity of 96,120,000 tons, with capacity added since 1947 totalling 5,000,000 tons.

The 15,000,000 tons added in the last 10 years is approximately equal to the present total capacity of the entire British steel industry. America has gained in the last decade nearly as much steel capacity as all of Russia has now. American steel output is more than four times as great as that of Russia. Additions this year will total 2,000,000 tons.

There is scant justification for the threat of the administration to hamper the steel industry. It can only be regarded as a trial balloon, wafted up to see if America is willing to give up its amazingly productive private enterprise system.

America is not ready to unhitch that horse.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

A rich harvest of German military and industrial productivity fell into Allied hands with Norway's decision to join the North Atlantic Defense Pact, and even more will follow when Denmark comes in.

For these two nations, so long devoted to neutrality, were turned into battlegrounds by the German invasions and occupations of 1940.

And when the Nazis were thrown out by the eventually victorious Allies, they left behind them vast and expensive military installations of tremendous value to the intricate system of western democratic security now in the process of formulation.

One Prime Failing

Thoroughly expert in all the arts of warfare, the Germans always have had one prime failing—their intense dislike of destroying any of their own creations. This even went as far as incriminating state papers, as a result of which incontrovertible evidence made possible the trials and executions at Nuremberg.

Once they had taken Norway, the Germans lost no time in building a veritable fence of steel along the country's long, exposed coastline.

Since the Allied victory and their own liberations, the Norwegians have been hard at work strengthening this further still. While much of this construction work has been mantled in greatest secrecy, enough is known to promise that the western world is certain to profit in very material form from Norway's decision.

Norway's best bases originally were Oscarsborg, Oslofjord, Kristiansand, Bergen and Agdenes. To these the Nazis added great garrisons at Trondheim and the iron ore port of Narvik.

Heavy Coastal Guns

Coastal guns of the heaviest calibre were installed along the coast and even in the earliest days the British learned bitterly of the extensive Nazi preparations in their courageous, but ill-starred "counter-invasion."

As the years went on—and the Germans were in Norway for half a decade—the artillery emplacements were enlarged and strengthened. It can be assumed that since the Soviet Union seized the Petsamo area of Finland to achieve a common frontier with Norway the latter nation has looked to its defense in the east as well.

In addition to these leftovers from the Nazis, Norway has a fine military tradition of its own, despite its long-standing neutrality. She maintains a national militia, in which service is universal and compulsory. Men from 18 to 55 are compelled to sign up and are called out at the age of 21, "belong to the line" as it is said in Norway, for 12 years.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EARLY LESSONS IN REASONING

A child does not need to wait till he goes to high school or college to get a good practice in thinking. Anyway he won't, for he may begin to take early steps in thinking many months before he takes his first step with his feet.

He observes, compares, recalls, imagines, classifies and arrives at conclusions even before he talks, revealing that he does so by his actions, gestures or mere grunts. Just try to figure out what an array of thinking processes go on in his little head when he asks questions. Imagine the harm you might do to his mental growth and personality if you ignored his questions, spurned them or made fun of them, or if you ridiculed him for some of the conclusions he arrived at himself.

More Questions

Some while ago I printed a number of questions a parent might ask a little child long before he is five or six. A number of young mothers, nursery school and kindergarten teachers have written to ask me for more of such questions.

As you will recall, these questions don't require book learning or formal teaching. They aim to cause the child to dig out what he has in his head, left there from his everyday experiences. He recalls these experiences and from what he recalls he may derive, through "thinking", new experiences and new ideas. Here are a few such questions:

Which is easier to bend, a toothpick or a nail?

Where would you rather walk barefoot on the grassy lawn or on the gravel walk?

How old must a child be to feed himself? To dress himself?

In what ways are your hands different from your feet?

What is the difference between a mitten and a glove?

Do you see with your nose or your eyes?

How many knees have you?

Do fish walk?

Which is darker, smoke or steam?

When do we see more birds, in summer or in winter?

Do we cut cloth with a knife or scissors?

Does your mother sew with a fork or a needle?

Why does she use a thimble?

Do we plant seeds in the garden in winter or in summer?

What would you use to drive a nail into a board?

What would you use to peel an apple?

If your mother mended a hole in your sweater, would she use hair, wire or yarn?

When you or an older child asks a youngster from two to five these questions, the little tyke is amused. His mind is set to working and there is pleasant companionship. Older children will enjoy making up more such questions for a baby brother or sister.

At all times except during the occupation, Norway kept six skeleton divisions in active service which could be augmented in time of need by the so-called "Landstrom" or civilian army.

Women from 18 to 40 also are liable for service. The women, incidentally, played a major role in the resistance movement which plagued the Germans incessantly during the five years they were in Norway.

Before the outbreak of war, Norway had a navy consisting of 25 warships and 30 auxiliaries, including a number of fast destroyers and corvettes. She also had a compact but effective little air force, whose pilots flew over to England and served bravely and efficiently with the British.

Denmark, although far smaller and less well prepared, also always has had a national defense corps, with every able-bodied man compelled to do his term of military service.

Almost immediately after the invasions of both Norway and Denmark it became abundantly clear that the swift German victories were made possible only by treason and fifth-column work. Vidkun Quisling had done his preparatory work historically well in Norway and pro-Nazi elements in Denmark also facilitated Adolf Hitler's entry.

Since then, there has been a thoroughgoing cleanup. Norway and Denmark will march into the security alliance with clean hands, smart uniforms and a great many guns—valuable additions indeed to one of the most far-reaching treaties ever envisaged in defense of peace.

The World and the Mud Puddles

LEAVE IT TO NATURE

The women of the household generally know a thing or two about food prices. They know at least when potatoes are up and when they are down and they know when the price of a pound of tenderloin steak is up and when it is down. Mere man, leaving the market prices for food to the wife, sister or mother, doesn't know so much. That is another reason why we ought to have more women in Congress than we have.

Just now potatoes and meat are falling in price, but our President having a one-track mind, says that does not make any difference; that they will rise again. He is a pretty obstinate individual.

Present Prices

The present prices, as shown by the Dun & Bradstreet index are the lowest for two years and include thirty-one items in the usual family market basket. For the average family, however, the saving on foodstuffs over a year ago is $1.23.

The index of prices by Dun & Bradstreet doesn't say on what basis this $1.23 saving is figured, or what sort of a unit Dun & Bradstreet used to declare how much this saving was, but the figures are accepted as reliable and unprejudiced by the business world.

The fact that a steady decline has been under way for some months, without any legislative or executive intervention, may be interpreted as indicating that government controls are neither necessary nor practical. Nature probably knows more about the food problem than either Congress or the Executive.

BIBLE THOUGHT

For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.—II Peter 1:8.

Coal, oil and gas will some day be exhausted, but by that time science will have harnessed energy from the atom and the sun—providing politicians and statesmen have freed the world from war, recently reported Farrington Daniels, professor of chemistry of the University of Wisconsin and chairman of the board of the Argonne National Laboratory for Atomic Research.

From Me To You

There now . . . surely some part of the weather over the weekend pleased you. Surely had enough variety . . . sun, warm, cool, rain, snow, thunder and lightning . . . what else is there . . . winds, yes even that. Nice thing about March . . . variety is the strong suit.

That's the way it is with life too . . . variety . . . always something going on. Now we are in the throes of a Red Cross Membership campaign . . . do you have your membership sticker and card saying that you are in good standing for 1949. Only takes a moment to fill out the card when the solicitor comes around. Really doing a good job too, the American Red Cross . . . right here in our community the Blood Bank is worth everything that will be collected in this one campaign . . . but it doesn't take that much to keep the Blood Bank going . . . therefore it will be possible for the Red Cross to do many other things of mercy with your dollars. Don't wait . . . join the American Red Cross today.

Looks like maybe the auto manufacturers are getting down to brass tacks . . . notice that many advertisements, in newspapers and magazines and in dealers windows say . . . Be sure and have a demonstration . . . been years since they have even mentioned demonstrations . . . Sales sort of slowed up for a while but there should be more sales this month and the rest of Spring . . . since the credit regulation has been liberalized and production of autos increased.

Another bright spot in the Spring offering . . . the Home Builders Show . . . here will be opportunity to see many of the new improvements in home building that we have been reading and dreaming about. From the grapevine we hear that many unusual displays are being planned by the local supply men . . . and they (local business men) have interested manufacturers to the extent that national displays will be furnished for this showing . . . looks good . . . you'll be hearing and reading more of this in the very near future.

Now we must face reality . . . safety . . . it must be talked more and more during the warmer months . . . especially across the dinner table . . . for small fry.

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Johnson Under Close Scrutiny

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The departure of James Forrestal as secretary of defense had been the subject of speculation for so long that his usefulness was pretty well impaired. But even before the speculation began Forrestal was faced with an impossible situation.

He had failed to resolve the increasingly bitter and prolonged dispute between the Army, Navy, and Air Force. Whether he had the power to resolve it under the unification act is debatable. Forrestal thought he didn't have.

But the fact remains that the dispute was allowed to go to extraordinary lengths, impeding the whole defense-security program. Major decisions were not made.

Long Service Feud. In the course of the long service feud, within the joint chiefs of staff and at every other level, Forrestal was regarded by Army and Air Force as a navy man. The other two services considered the decisions he did make as favorable invariably to the Navy.

A great deal of the controversy centered around a very large and costly bone of contention—the Navy's super-aircraft carrier to be named the U. S. S. United States. Air Force planners have from the first regarded the giant carrier as an opening wedge by the Navy to invade the field of strategic air power.

When the U. S. S. United States was first announced more than a year ago, its estimated cost was $125,000,000. The Navy estimate today is $188,000,000. The latter figure, according to the Navy, includes ordnance.

If DiMaggio's heel continues to give him trouble the treasury may have to send a man to run bases for him.

Joe is worth $50,000 a year on the hoof to the treasury but the hoof must be in good condition.

The tax take from DiMaggio's heels, Crosby's tonsils and Louis's fists has saved many a European from a fate worse than working.

And I understand when Secretary Snyder heard that the Dodgers are trying eight men at third base he rubbed his hands together and said "What a year this will be for the Marshall Plan if they all play!"

What a year it will be for the Dodgers if they don't! Anyway the treasury has asked for 7,000 more employees to check tax returns . . . this is working toward the eventual goal of one checker per one return.

Greatness, whosoever we find it, Has the love of God behind it. Greatness feels what others suffer.

Never leaves a pathway rougher Than it found it, lest should stumble Those who follow. Ever humble, Greatness stoops to pick the stone up By the wheels of traffic thrown up.

Some win fame by being clever. Shrewdness may be gentle never. Greatness, gracious to others, Looks on all good men as brothers.

Greatness serves its street, its city. Understands man's need for pity. Others may be richer, stronger; Greatness lives in memory longer. (Copyright, 1949, Edgar A. Guest)

By its vote, the American people aren't asking for much. All they want is low prices on what they buy and high prices on what they sell, no better about a third war, all the liquor you can drink, easier divorce, and life membership in the $200 a month social security club.—Sheldon, Iowa, Mail.

Birds owe less to the sense of touch than many other creatures. They have fewer tactile organs, the bristles about their beaks having mainly other purposes. The bills of some mud-hunting species, however, are specialized in this direction—ducks and snipes, for instance.

Lobbies And Tru Deal

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—President Truman's Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner remarks about "special interests (which) work through their lobbies and pressure groups" will be amplified by Senator Kilgore of West Virginia when he opens his lobby investigation under Senate Resolution 23.

Not yet published and perhaps not destined for publication is a typescript survey of 80th Congress lobbying. This is the work of Dr. W. Brooke Graves of the legislative reference service, Library of Congress. Following are some nuggets from this mine of information: When You Call Me That, Smile

In 1947-48 there were three times as many registered lobbyists as there were representatives and senators, but almost all lobbyists shunned their name. Many said that they registered to be on the safe side of the law and quite a few let it be known that they registered under moral protest.

The Silent Numbers

Many did not register at all, but Dr. Graves used other sources to dig out the reluctant dragons. He consulted the Washington Telephone Directory for organizations with give-away titles, and he checked the names of individuals and groups who appeared before congressional committees. He also made use of a interesting comparisons. It seems that labor groups have about 150 national associations, agricultural groups have another 150, business groups have over 3000. All are potential lobbying units, though many are inactive and some more active than others. But the figures indicate what size and scope the Kilgore investigation could take. It may turn out that lobbies, like icebergs, are mostly submersible.

Some Fight Back

Pending in court is a test case by the National Association of Manufacturers which contends that the Lobby Registration Act is a violation of civil rights. NAM says that it is just a service organization for its 1600 members "with relatively little interest in lobbying as such." But chances are slim that courts will invalidate the law. State lobby laws have been on the books since 1905 when Wisconsin enacted such a law under Gov. Robert M. LaFollette. The Federal law was co-sponsored in 1946 by Fighting Bob's son Sen. LaFollette, Jr.

It Ain't Hay

A breakdown of the 3.5 million dollars spent by lobbyists in the first six months of 1948 shows that nine lobby units spent over $100,000, eight spent between $50,000 and $100,000 and twenty-four spent under $1000. The top spender in 1947 was the American Federation of Labor which laid out $819,648.18 to stop the Taft-Hartley Act. A low spender was the Communist Party which spent $34.95 to stop anti-Red legislation. But the Taft-Hartley Act did pass and most of the anti-Red legislation did not.

Does Money Talk?

Yet the pattern of Dr. Graves' survey shows that free-spending lobbies do better than the pinch-penny ones. On public housing, the pro-housing lobbies spent $2500 as against $198.597 for the anti-housing influencers. No effective housing legislation was passed. On public health insurance, the pro-insurance people spent $29,225 and the anti-insurance people spent $259,012. No health insurance laws were passed. On public power development, the proponents laid out $9540 and the opponents laid out $148,364. The application for the TVA generating plant was denied.

Tell Me Another

In his curiosity about the honest of lobbyists, Dr. Graves compiled two lists of statements. One list was what the lobbyists said they did for a living. The other list was what reputable reports and columnists said the lobbyists did. This section is regarded as so touchy that it does not appear in the typescript. But photostatic copies are in the hands of Senator Kilgore and Rep. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, two Tru Dealers of the purest ray serene.

They Also Serve

Do Federal bureaucrats sing for their supper? The Graves survey is silent on this, but the 80th Congress has spoken out. A sub-committee headed by Rep. Harnes, Republican of Indiana, found that 45,000 Federal employees spent $75,000,000 for publicity and propaganda. In a report dated July 2, 1947, this group stated that "at least six agencies in the executive branch are using Government funds in an improper manner for propaganda activities . . . supporting socialized medicine." Attorney General Tom Clark was asked to investigate, but he didn't.

Much is admitted to be wrong with the Lobby Law. It does not catch all the lobbyists and it could trap innocent men into a $5000 fine or 12 months imprisonment. The Graves report lists some suggested revisions. Lobbyists should keep their amateur status until they earn or spend a minimum of $1000 a year. Lobbyists should have a chance at public repentance by un-registering themselves from pressure groups. Such groups should be made legally responsible for their registered fixers. The law should be broadened to catch fixers who try to work on the White House, the Cabinet and the bureaucracies as well as on long-suffering Congress.

State Police Say:

The driver who in anger throws his high beam of lights into the eyes of an approaching driver because the oncoming driver doesn't tilt his lights is not only rude—he is violating the law. The law demands that all drivers tilt their lights downward when approaching within 500 feet of another car. If the other driver does not depress his lights it may be wise to rapidly raise and lower your beam to indicate to the other driver that his lights are glaring.

They Say

NEW YORK—Gen. George C. Marshall: "I am told by authorities that (European) progress has been more cooperative . . . in the past five years than in the previous 500 years."

NEW YORK—Cardinal Spellman, answering critics of his use of seminarians to dig graves at a strike-bound cemetery: "If stopping a strike like this isn't a thing of honor, then I don't know what is honor."

NEW YORK—Norwegian Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstjerne: "I am sure that all the Atlantic countries want is to be absolutely certain that through solidarity we can hold the frontier of freedom through law and decency—if, in spite of everything another crazy Hitler challenges the world."

The whole thing came to around a dollar, but Bernard Baruch could not have been more impressive in a ten billion dollar deal with the Russian government. I have always wanted to be important. I have never succeeded. Try as I may to be somebody (Continued on Next Page)

Lonely Hearts Pair To Have Hearing On Extradition

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 7.—(INS)—Two confessed "lonely hearts" killers today found slight solace in the fact that at least one Michigan official disapproves of sending them to New York and possible death.

Kent County prosecutor Roger McMahon said last night that he is against extradition, but will not contest any action taken tomorrow by Gov. G. Nennen Williams.

Kent obtained the original confessions from Raymond M. Fernandez, balding ruthless Romeo, and his plump sweetheart, Mrs. Martha Beck, that they killed two lonely widows and the child of one victim.

Gov. Williams has set a hearing for 2 p.m. tomorrow. He told International News Service last week he has an "open mind" on the case, despite Michigan's traditional opposition to capital punishment.

University Student Stabbed By Stranger

Most Unusual Attack On Student Reported At Providence, Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 7. (INS)—A Brown university sophomore fought for his life today at Rhode Island hospital after being stabbed in the back with an ice pick wielded by a mumbling stranger.

Arthur J. Atherton, 21, of Glen-side, Pa., was stabbed as he walked along a street with two fellow students, Henry L. Barker, 22, of Cape Elizabeth, Me., and John W. McGeever, 19, of Scranton, Pa.

The trio had just left a restaurant when the stranger, mumbling incoherently, ran up to Atherton and struck at him with the ice pick. The instrument punctured Atherton's left lung.

Police Lt. Hugh F. Conlon said the attacker "apparently is a maniac." A city-wide alarm was sent out for him.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

At the conclusion of a particularly hectic session of the United Nations, one of the heads of the Russian delegation was seized with pangs of hunger and barged into the first restaurant he passed. "A ham sandwich, and make it snappy," he told the waiter in his best U.N. vernacular.

The waiter smiled and said, "I guess you didn't notice the sign on this restaurant. We don't serve any meat. This place is 100 per cent vegetarian."

The Russian was amazed. "This room is packed," he pointed out. "Do you mean to tell me all these people are actually vegetarians?" The waiter leaned over and whispered, "Keep this under your hat, but only 10 per cent are really vegetarians. The rest are merely sympathizers."

A small business man sought to borrow $100,000 from the bank. "That's a lot of money," said the bank president. "Can you give me a statement?"

"Yes," said the businessman. "I'm optimistic."

MORE CHANGES URGED
HOOVER COMMISSION

Civil Aeronautics Board, and certain activities of the customs bureau.

Effect Great Savings
The changes would effect "great savings," the commission said, "by elimination of overlaps" and better administration and would enable the department "to do a better job in serving the transportation, industry and commerce of the country."

The agencies would retain all regulatory functions. The commission agreed that they are responsible to Congress for regulatory activities, and that these should be exempt from reorganization plans.

The commission, headed by former President Hoover, at one time Secretary of Commerce, also urged transfer to the department of the Office of Defense Transportation, the Public Roads Administration, and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Retiring Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal, a commission member, took issue with the proposal to transfer the coast guard, famed police patrol agency of the seas, from the Treasury department.

Forrestal and Secretary of State Acheson, vice chairman of the group, joined others in objecting to a recommendation that commercial fishing activities be shifted to commerce from the Interior department.

Coast Guard Misplaced
The commission insisted that the coast guard "is obviously misplaced" in the Treasury, since its principal functions "relate to provision of coastal and interior aids and services to air and water navigation."

It disagreed with the recommendation of its "task force" that transportation activities should be unified by placing them in a new department. It said:

"It would be quite inadvisable for the Federal government to set up a department which would be devoted entirely to the problems of one industry."

The trouble with government transportation activities, the commission insisted, is that they are now scattered among 11 different agencies, so that "there is no coordination of policies in the transportation field."

Budgeting Difficult
Other defects listed were that scattered functions "makes intelligent budgeting difficult," policies cannot be considered for transportation as a whole, research is carried on only in narrow segments, the amount of subsidies paid carriers is not clear, and transportation planning for national defense is inadequate.

The commission said "the major weakness in Federal transportation policy clearly arises from a failure, in practice, to recognize that the primary objective must be to assure the nation the best possible transportation system."

The group declared that the field service of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce "may be overly elaborate." It said some of the field offices might be closed and others reduced in size.

It recommended that an interdepartmental committee be established between the commerce, agriculture, interior and state departments "to determine the fields of the different departments" on commodity research.

DENIES BURGLARY CHARGE
Leo O'Neil, Long avenue, charged by Police Chief Hanna with stealing brush cleaner and pie pans from the Ramsey warehouse, pleaded not guilty to a burglary charge before Alderman C. L. Mantz, Saturday, and will receive a hearing Friday. He is at liberty on bail.

CHIMNEY FIRE
City firemen were called to 606 West Clayton street, at 11:45 o'clock this morning, where it was found a chimney was burning out. Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink reports. No action was required.

Immunity For Spy Suspect Is Not Considered

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., March 7. (INS)—An authoritative source disclosed at Lake Success today that Russia has been notified by the United Nations that the question of immunity for spy suspect Valentin Gubichev does not arise.

Acting Secretary General Victor Hoo is understood to have given a firm and decisive answer on that point to Soviet U.N. Delegate A. A. Soldatov when the latter presented a demand for Gubichev's immunity over the week end.

Services committee, which unanimously approved the legislation after secret hearings, said the measure involved security measures which could not be discussed openly.

The "hush-hush" bill, so described by Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts, provides new statutory authority for the central intelligence agency, highly secret government unit which coordinates foreign intelligence activities.

The most unusual provision in the bill authorizes the admission of 100 aliens annually without regard to immigration laws or regulations.

These aliens must be approved for entry by the director of central intelligence and the attorney general.

The aliens would be men and women who have acted as espionage agents for the United States or who have turned "informers" and have valuable information to give American intelligence. Some of them seek sanctuary in the United States for fear of their lives.

Measure Would Authorize Bringing Foreign Spies And Informers Into U.S.

WASHINGTON, March 7—(INS)—The leadership called up for action in the House today the "hush-hush" bill authorizing United States intelligence authorities to bring foreign spies and "informers" into this country.

The legislation was brought up for a vote under a "gag" procedure which barred amendments and provided for a minimum of debate.

Ellwood City Man Is Granted Patent

Alan W. Magee Gets Patent On Pocket-Sized Key Case Of Type Used By Auto Drivers

United States Patent Office granted Patent No. 2,462,206 on a key case to Alan W. Magee, Ellwood City, on February 22, 1949.

This invention pertains to an improved pocket-sized key case of the type used by automobile drivers to hold an ignition and a trunk key.

As is generally known there are countless different styles of leather and plastic key cases, many of which contain various clips and other accessories which make them quite elaborate and complicated. However, Mr. Magee's contrivance is small and simple in its design, maintains the keys in either a projected or retracted position as desired, and may be conveniently carried in a pocket, a woman's purse or similar receptacle.

In its general construction it is fashioned from a single sheet of flexible leather or like material that is first folded into halves. Thereupon, two of its adjacent ends are brought into contact with each other and tucked inward thereby producing what may be termed a two-pty tab between the sides. This tab forms the equivalent of two compartments—one for each key—and through it is passed an assembling rivet on which the keys are suspended. It should be noted that this rivet does not protrude through the side walls of the case, and, as a particular feature, it carries a special spring clip, made from a single length of wire that serves to hold the keys in place by resiliently clamping them either in their retracted or extended position.

Thus, there is provided a practical and expedient case with refinements therein that should make it superior to those heretofore available.

The application for this patent was filed on November 3, 1945.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.) (Distributed By International News Service)

AUSTIN, Tex., March 7.—(INS)—A dignified, white-haired lady who looks as everyone's grandmother should look, understands—even if she cannot condone—the strong language used by President Truman in exasperation at a political columnist.

"Ma" Ferguson, the famous first lady of Texas politics, feels President Truman "probably had provoked" Miriam Amanda Ferguson, 74, once the stormy petrel of Texas' stormy political scene, sat in the parlor of her big, comfortable Austin home and, as a former politician, did not have it in her heart to judge Mr. Truman harshly.

"I guess maybe the president shouldn't have said it," Mrs. Ferguson said judiciously, primly avoiding any mention of what he had actually said.

"I guess it doesn't sound becoming," she added as a southern lady and a devout church goer. But then the bright eyes behind her rimless glasses began to snap. It was obvious that this woman, the first woman ever elected to the governorship of any of the 48 states, was thinking of her own political ordeals.

Mrs. Ferguson, who was twice governor of Texas during one of its most turbulent periods, said firmly:

"I think people who've been in politics will understand why the president was so riled. Anyway, I don't think people should have made so much out of it."

Hated Term "Ma"
Mrs. Ferguson, who hated the term "Ma" when she entered politics in 1924 and who hates it bitterly still, lives today in quiet retirement. She is still a woman of such presence and dignity that it is difficult to imagine anyone, even politicians, having the temerity to call her "Ma," a contraction first suggested by the initials of her Christian names, Miriam Amanda.

Although Mrs. Ferguson will be 75 in June, she is straight as an arrow. She walks with the lithe step and swing of a girl. And she speaks and moves with the undiminished vigor of her old politticking days.

Her strong, oblong face, with its deep-set eyes, is topped by hair almost snow white, parted in the middle and neatly drawn into a figure eight at the nape of the neck. The evening I went to call, she was wearing a delft-blue shirt-maker dress of thin wool, and a handsome gold necklace.

A unique figure of the American political scene, Mrs. Ferguson is the only woman who ever ran for a governorship to vindicate the good name of her husband. Until her late husband, Gov. James Edward (Jim) Ferguson, was impeached during his second term in office and barred from again running for office, Mrs. Ferguson was a devoted wife and mother, and a pleasant hostess at the executive mansion.

Women Are Governors
And Texas became known as the state "where men are men and women governors."

As she sat in a handsome victorian arm chair, in front of a grand piano, Mrs. Ferguson said smilingly:

"It never occurs to me to think of myself as a governor. I can't think of myself in that position. At all times, whenever she speaks of 'the governor,' she invariably means her husband, Jim, who died in 1944 after a long illness. But she conceded:

"Politics never, never get out of the blood." Then this picture of everybody's grandmother laughed and added:

"But I don't ever want to get 'em out."
When I reminded her that, like it or lump it, she was a genuine footnote in history as the nation's first woman governor, Mrs. Ferguson laughed gently. She shook her head unbelievably, but added: "Ah guess Ah'm cornered. Ah can't back out of that."

A native of Puerto Rico receives 10 cents for climbing a tall royal palm tree to cut the lower fronds which are used in the palm fiber industry. A good climber makes 200 ascents daily, earning $20. The cutting does not injure the palm tree.

Wheat Exporting Nations Back Away From $2 Demand

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—Wheat exporting nations had backed away from their original demand for a maximum price of $2 per bushel of grain moving in world trade.

C. F. Wilson, Canadian delegate to the International Wheat Conference, told reporters a "substantial" number of exporters have suggested $1.80 as the top price over the proposed four-year period of the contract.

Wilson said the exporting nations are also demanding assured markets for 550 million bushels of wheat a year.

The countries making the price concession were not specified. Major wheat exporters participating in the conference are the United States, Canada, Australia and Russia.

F. Sheed Anderson, British delegate and spokesman for the importers, said early in the conference that buying nations felt it would be possible to reduce the $2 maximum written into a 1948 agreement which was rejected by the United States Senate.

He said delegates are now awaiting further instructions from their governments on both the quality and price proposals.

Modern Towboat To Challenge Old Steamboat Record

ST. LOUIS, March 7.—(INS)—The modern towboat Harry Truman is going to challenge the 79-year-old record Mississippi river run of the famed steamboat Robert E. Lee from New Orleans to St. Louis.

The Federal Barge Lines' office in St. Louis said the Harry Truman will leave Canal street in New Orleans at 6 p. m. (EST) Tuesday. The towboat is equipped with two diesel engines having a total horsepower of 3,200. It is the newest and most powerful in the barge lines' fleet.

The Robert E. Lee's record for the 1,049-river mile distance is three days, 18 hours and 14 minutes.

Birth Registration Will Be Checked

HARRISBURG—State Secretary of Health Dr. Norris Vaux, today said spot surveys to determine how complete a registration of births has been accomplished in Pennsylvania will be made during the next U. S. Census in 1950.

Greenwood, director of the bureau of Vital Statistics, pointed out that state law requires every attending physician to file a certificate of birth with the local registrar of vital statistics within ten days. If unattended by a physician parents are responsible for filing. Greenwood said he believes the registration of births in Pennsylvania is close to 100 per cent.

Seasonal Factors Have Entered Into State Relief Roll

Only 831 Persons Added To Relief Rolls During Last Week In February

HARRISBURG, March 7.—(INS)—The upward rush of Pennsylvania's relief rolls today appeared to be "slowing".

The department of public assistance reported the last week of February saw 831 persons added to the relief lists for "the smallest weekly increase recorded since the beginning of the year". The total number on relief rolls was pegged at 322,433.

The labor and industry department agreed with the report. A drop of approximately 10,000 was recorded at the end of February from the ranks of the known jobless.

The industry department said it was still "too early to tell whether the end of seasonal slump factors were responsible for the let up."

Usual Condition
While the DPA said "the slowing of the upward movement at this time follows the pattern observed in previous years, since it is usually about this time of the year that a seasonal improvement in employment conditions begins."

"Seasonal factors," the department continued, "which have been increasing the apparent downturn in general business during the winter months will shortly have a counter-acting effect and will tend to oppose any downturn."

In addition to the 57,679 persons on general assistance, the DPA also provides aid for 92,000 old people, 158,000 dependent children and 15,000 blind pensioners.

GARDEN NOTES

Getting the lawn back into shape after winter's siege is one of the most important of all spring jobs.

To conserve fertility and reduce insect injury the vegetable garden should be rotated from place to place every two or three years if yard space makes this possible.

Hardy chrysanthemums and most other late-flowering perennials may be divided when they start to grow. Prepare the beds first so that they may be replanted as soon as the divisions are made.

Annuals which may be started in the house include phlox drummondii, cosmos, asters, snapdragons, salpiglossis, zinnias, verbenas, ageratum, salvia, scabiosa, nicotiana, stock, annual gaillardia, annual chrysanthemums and the moonflowers.

With the days getting longer, house plants may be reported so that they will make good growth during the spring and summer. Fibrous loam or leaf mold, and bone meal or sheep manure are good to mix with garden loam in making a compost for use with house plants.

The most important single factor in successful gardening is the preparation of the seed bed. A poorly prepared seed bed often causes uneven germination, poor stands and insufficient moisture.

The site of the city of Memphis, Tenn., was an ancient crossing place of Indian tribes on both sides of the Mississippi river.

House Committee Rejects Proposal

Proposal For Broadening Wages And Hours Law To Cover Farmers Rejected

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—The House Labor Committee on Saturday rejected a proposal for broadening the wage and hour law to cover farm workers.

The proposal, a compromise worked out by Democratic members, would have provided that the wage and hour law cover large farms with 5,000 man-hours of work annually.

A committee member said that the vote against the proposal was on a two-to-one ratio. He did not reveal the exact vote.

The vote was a rebuff for the administration which had asked for the inclusion of all farm laborers. Recently, however, speaker Rayburn (D) Tex., advised President Truman that the house would not vote for such a provision.

The committee adjourned its session without reaching a vote on the major provision of the bill which calls for an increase from 40 to 75 cents in the hourly minimum wage.

In 1057 Bruno was appointed director of all the schools in his diocese, but soon after he began to be troubled by the wickedness of his time, and taking six pious friends with him, he took refuge in a desert place where in 1084 he founded the Order of the Carthusians.

Probe 'Pyramids' In New York City

NEW YORK, March 7.—Pyramid clubs, the get-rich-quick schemes of turning $1, into $2,048 in 12 days, are under investigation today by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan.

The clubs were declared illegal lotteries by State Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein. Hogan said "If evidence can be found of organized activity, we will prosecute."

Meanwhile, the New York Telephone Co. reported that the get-rich-quick fans are "jamming" city telephone lines in the attempt to enlist new recruits. They reported a particular increase in evening calls. Mrs. Hubert L. Horton, 39-year-old housewife from White Plains, N. Y., proposed that the clubs be turned into "peace organizations to promote civic harmony and the ideals of the United Nations."

VETERANS OFFICE BUSY

Work in the Department of Military Affairs, which is now housed in the smaller of the two annexes south of the Court House, is gradually increasing. A Lewis Conn, the director, stated today.

Veterans are entitled to a great number of benefits which their families perhaps are not aware.

Veterans of all wars are entitled to a headstone, or the county will pay $49.50 toward the purchase of a stone which the family may select if they desire a larger one than the county furnishes.

The government will also pay $150 towards the cost of the veterans funeral, and if the expense does not exceed $400, the county will supplement this with a $75 payment.

Widows of veterans of World War One and Spanish American War are entitled to pensions but they must be applied for as payment is not retroactive. All World War One Veterans who become permanently and totally disabled, regardless of whether the disability is attributed to war causes get $50 per month.

Many other benefits are given veterans, and those who feel they have some kind of a claim will receive every courtesy in visiting the Veterans Affairs office, Mr. Conn states.

INFORMAL WEDDING

"My daughter will soon have an informal wedding. Her plan is to wear a light blue suit with navy accessories. Our church is small. I wondered if it would be necessary to have ribbons at the altar? (2) Is it necessary to have flowers other than those on the altar? (3) Would it be correct to have the bride's five-year-old niece in the wedding party, perhaps as a flower girl? If so, what should she wear? (4) Do you think 100 guests would be too many to invite to both the ceremony and the reception? (5) Is it necessary to have floral decorations on all of the tables at the reception or is this necessary at the bridal table only?"

Answer: Since the wedding will be informal, it is optional just how much fuss you wish to make. The bride's clothes sound most attractive—light blue with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

(2) You will not require any floral decoration in the church other than those on the altar.

(3) Although it is somewhat unusual for an informal bride to have any attendants other than a maid or matron of honor, the bride's niece may act as a flower girl.

(4) You may have as many or as few guests as you wish, even though the wedding will be informal.

(5) Although floral decorations on all tables would look very well, they are certainly not a "must" except on the bridal table.

Question: Would it be proper for me to give a shower to a divorced friend who is about to remarry? She gave me a shower before my recent marriage, and since I did not know her before her first marriage, I, of course, did not give her a shower on that occasion.

Answer: It would be entirely proper.

Second U.P. Will Be Host To Winter Church Workshop

Rev. H. Seater, Nationally Known Religious Education Worker, Principal Speaker

Second U. P. church, County Line at Milton street, will be host to the Council of Christian Education of Beaver Valley Presbytery when the winter educational workshop will be held in the church Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Rev. Hilda Seater, previously state director of religious education and young people's work for the Congregational church conference of South Dakota, will present demonstrations of worship services. Mrs. Seater is a graduate of Gordon college, Boston, Mass., and Andover Newton Theological school, where she was ordained to the Congregational Christian church in 1946. In previous capacities, she has conducted such workshops and classes on worship, but having served as pastor of a congregation, she is acquainted with the needs of the local church.

Miss Bessie Burrows, a previous director of religious education in the Ellwood City U. P. church, active in denominational education work and staff assistant in the Youth department of the Board of Christian Education, will present the church's plan of Bible memorization. This plan was introduced by Dr. Ray Shear at the Beverly Heights U. P. church.

These workshops have proven helpful to Bible school teachers and officers and all connected with educational work in the local churches. The Council of Christian Education is composed of Rev. Alfred L. Spotts, chairman, Mrs. R. J. W. Gullies, secretary of children's work, and Rev. Ray McCreight, secretary of youth work. The workshops are open to all who are interested in the program.

Russia Returning Borrowed Warship

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(INS)—An American lend-lease cruiser flying the communist flag steamed toward the Delaware bay last night with a Russian crew aboard.

The vessel, the USS Milwaukee, was returning to the United States after nearly five years with the Soviet navy. The Russians borrowed the ship on April 20, 1944, and renamed it the Murmansk.

The Soviet crew will drop anchor today off Lewes, Del. U. S. authorities will take command on Wednesday. The vessel then will be scrapped at the Philadelphia naval base.

The Murmansk is the first Russian warship in American waters since the days of the czar.

NEW YORK, March 7.—A combination purse-and-vase, for ladies who pamper their orchids, will be introduced this week by a Park avenue handbag designer.

The "orchid bag" is a small pouch, globe or enveloped-shaped purse with a pocket on the outside. A vial with water and a non-slip rubber top fits into the pocket. And any flower, orchid to daisy, fits into the vial.

The bags will come in suedes and leathers from daytime and gold, silver, brocade or silk for evening.

Designer Jan Norris did not list the price range, but hedged: "Any woman who can afford orchids can afford orchid bags."

Jewelry Burglar Is Being Hunted

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—

(INS)—Police today sought a professional burglar who stole jewelry valued at more than $10,000 from the exclusive Chestnut Hill home of socially-prominent Mrs. W. Morgan Churchman.

The burglar jimmied a first-floor window of the house Saturday while Mrs. Morgan was watching her granddaughter perform at a skating pageant in nearby Ardmore.

Mrs. Churchman, widow of an investment banker, said the loot included two strings of pearls, an emerald ring, pearl and diamond dinner ring and a diamond-studded wrist watch.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, March 7.—"Handsome Harry" Wilson is a man of distinction in a town saturated with beautiful dolls and handsome guys and where glamour is common as sneezes in a pepper factory.

"Handsome Harry" Wilson is the proud professor of the ugliest mug in Hollywood.

He admits that his face resembles a relief map of the Rocky Mountains, that the sight of him would test even a mother's love and that he generally looks like an accident going somewhere to happen.

But Harry is growing downright weary of being hauled into jail in real life simply because he was behind the barn door when they passed out the good-looks.

Wilson's face is his fortune and he's worth a million bucks.

During his long screen career he probably has scared more leading men onto the straight and narrow lane and frightened more movie audiences into hysterics than Dracula and Frankenstein's monster combined.

Harry currently spends time behind bars in a jail sequence of "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," at 20th Century-Fox. The title, needless to say, hardly applies to Mr. Wilson's pan.

Actually Wilson is a highly respected citizen, happily married and the poppa of an eight-year-old daughter who is resigned to hearing her playmates say:

"Yaaaaan there's yer pop. But where's his gun? I thought he was a tough guy."

So "Handsome Harry" keeps right on snarling on celluloid and keeps right on landing in jail off the screen—for no reason except that he looks exactly like a gangster.

Even a simple gag that Producer Hal Roach tried to pull on his own mother-in-law landed Harry in the Hollywood pokey. Roach arranged for Harry to hitch-hike a ride in the Roach automobile while mama-in-law rode in the back seat.

It was all set up—but before Roach drove by a cop car stopped, escorted "Handsome Harry" to Lincoln Heights jail and it was two solid hours before Roach could spring his pal.

Captain "Enos" Slaughter finally made out a special card saying that "Handsome Harry" Wilson was a movie actor, a respected citizen and, in fact, a buddy who played police benefit shows.

Life for Wilson has been comparatively serene since he has been able to flash the pasteboard signed by Cop Captain Slaughter.

Wilson became indignant at the suggestion of plastic surgery "What's the matter?" he demanded. "You want me to starve?"

GIVES $25,000 TO FUND CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 7.—(INS)—The F. W. Woolworth company announced a $25,000 gift toward the Firemen's Relief Fund in Charleston.

The firm stipulated that the money be used for families of the seven firemen who died fighting a million dollar fire in Charleston yesterday.

Gifts since the tragedy total $32,000. Mayor R. C. Andrews previously gave his personal check for $500.

Soviet Changes Seen As Result Of Red Failures

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 7.—Diplomatic observers in London are convinced today that recent Soviet high command changes are a direct outcome of Russian failure to block Marshall plan aid, successful creation of western union and the projected Atlantic pact.

These sources believe the replacement of V. M. Molotov by Andrei V. Vishinsky as Soviet foreign minister will mean the opening of a militant drive to strengthen the communist satellite countries with the Russian sphere.

In Moscow, the Russian people are said to feel that the change will not mean any drastic overhaul in Soviet policy since Vishinsky is the "natural" successor to Molotov.

It was noted that Molotov still remains a member of the all-powerful politburo. Some Soviet citizens believe he was freed of his post as foreign minister so he can give more time to domestic affairs.

In London, diplomatic observers said Soviet foreign policy probably will be concentrated on diplomatic offensive to steal the play away from the north Atlantic defense alliance.

They predicted this will take the form of increased communist propaganda in western Europe and Asia. The Asiatic millions are said to be considered especially fertile ground for communist efforts.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Stop! Stop! Stop!

You've probably heard the old story about the harassed mother who said to Willie's older sister, "Go see what Willie is doing and tell him to stop." And there was a cartoon recently in which Mother says to Dad, as little Mary is playing in the background, "She told the teacher her name was Mary Stop."

It's pretty easy, indeed, for almost any parent of young children to get into the "stop" habit. There are so many things that children do which have to be corrected, so many ways in which they may hurt themselves, so many things they may break!

And yet this "stop" habit isn't a good one. It brings an unpleasant feeling both to him who uses it and to him on whom it is used. Often, too, after a time, children develop an immunity to such nagging.

Though it may seem less natural at first, the habit of suggesting something else to take the place of that which the child usually would be asked to stop is better. Thus, Johnny starts to scrawl on the wall, large sheets of paper can be furnished. Or when Susy is being a little too noisy, she can be asked to help with something she particularly likes to do.

It's better for the grown-up to stop himself and think of some interesting substitute activity for the child than constantly to be shouting "stop!"

Japanese Are Told They Must Do More To Aid Themselves

TOKYO, March 7.—(INS)—Joseph Dodge, General MacArthur's new financial expert, told the Japanese people today that American financial aid is coming from taxes on the American people and that it will not last forever.

Dodge, a Detroit banker who came to Japan a month ago, broke his silence to issue a message to the Japanese bluntly telling them they will have to produce more goods and cut costs to get on their economic feet.

HORNS ON DOMESTIC CATTLE A NUISANCE

Cattle in the wild state needed horns for protection but under modern dairymaking methods where large numbers of cattle are pastured and housed to gether, horns are a nuisance and hazard to the whole herd.

Several easy and satisfactory methods of dehorning are available, among them the use of caustic potash or horn paints when the calf is one to three weeks old. As soon as a horn button appears, clip the hair and rub the horn area until bleeding occurs. Follow manufacturers' directions.

Dehorn animals over three months of age with a dehorning saw or clippers, cutting the horns about one-fourth inch under the skin to prevent a horn stub from growing as the animal matures.

Horns, well polished, look good in the show ring but hinder rather than help economical milk production in the home dairy herd.

SUGGESTIONS FOR BETTER PRESSING

The most professional looking homemade garment is one which is pressed as it is sewed. Pressing makes the material easier to handle, help to shape the garment and aids in making neat looking seams. Skimping in pressing is a common mistake in making any garment, particularly a woolen one.

Here are several suggestions for better dressmaking: Use of moist heat from a steam iron or from pressing with a damp cloth. The amount of moisture needed depends upon the fabric. Practice firsts on a scrap of material.

Press on the wrong side of the material. Place a damp press cloth over the area to be pressed. Do not use ironing motion but hold iron so it rests lightly on the pressing cloth until steam rises. Lift iron and continue to press garment until finished. When pressing woollens remove the iron while there is still moisture in the fabric.

Press each seam, dart, or other part as it is sewed, before joining it to another piece of material. Press all stitching flat to remove the slight pucker before pressing the seam open.

To open plain seams in wool, use a small brush or fingers to dampen the center of the seam. Place cloth on seam and press seam open.

Keep the grain of the fabric and seam lines straight to give the proper shape to the garment. Press seams in the direction in which they are stitched. For a sharper edge on facings to be turned, press seam open first, then turn facing back and press edge.

Avoid leaving basting marks at edge of hem or facing by steam-iron, lightly, and removing basting while material is damp. Finish pressing.

Press curved seams and darts over a tailor's cushion on pressing mitt. Press sleeve and shoulder seams over a sleeve board or roll. Shrink out the fullness by using the tip of the iron. Gradually work the iron from the smooth part into the gathers. For skirt hems, place heavy paper between the material turned up for the hem and the skirt before shrinking out the extra fullness. Remember, if inside pressing is done well when the garment is finished the outside pressing will not be difficult. Keep the garment on a hanger or neatly folded while sewing to save unnecessary pressing.

The New York State Athletic commission insists upon providing officials for wrestling shows, but also insists that they be billed as exhibitions. This is a mild way of saying that they are strictly show business, or rehearsed for the increased interest of the public.

Ted Williams had a tremendous year in 1948. Besides leading the circuit at bat, he fielded well and his hitting included a good liberal sprinkling of safeties over to left field to beat the shift which the opposition used against him.

PAYNE-BIVINS

FIGHT MARCH 21
 PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—The Rusty Payne-Jimmy Bivins fight was re-scheduled today for March 21 at the Gardens in Pittsburgh.
 Bivins, Cleveland heavyweight, previously had asked a postponement of the originally scheduled Jan. 8 bout because of a recurrent side injury. He began training early last week in Cleveland. Payne, meantime, fights Kid Rivera of St. Louis at Rochester, N. Y. tonight.

Think what a shortstop like Wagner would draw nowadays—even with the reserve clause.

Costs Of Pittsburgh Crosstown Thoroughfare's First Link To Be Compiled

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—(INS)—Detailed engineering plans were being prepared today to estimate final costs for the first link in the Pittsburgh crosstown thoroughfare.

The plans call for a high-speed roadway which will be partly elevated and partly under ground across the city's heaviest traffic zone. The project will tie-in with the Penn-Lincoln Parkway and includes a new bridge across the Allegheny river.

Principal cost of the crosstown will be paid by Allegheny county. The final plans, which will be given to the commonwealth for coordination with the parkway, are being developed by the city and county planning commissions.

United A A Wins Optimist Club Tournament Championship

Hand Morellas Upset Saturday Night 49-41

United AA basketball players are wearing the 1949 diadem today as champions of the Optimist club third annual Lawrence County Senior floor tourney.

Saturday night before over 400 fans at the Washington High floor the United AA coached by the veterans Paul Morrison, staged the biggest upset of the local basketball season, by downing the previously undefeated in 13 straight Morella Dairy Bar team, 49 to 41, and looked mighty impressive doing it. The United has a season record of 24 wins and four defeats.

Tournament Success

The Optimist club members are taking a bow today along with the United AA players, for having conducted one of the most successful floor tourneys of its kind ever held here. Everything went without a hitch. The fans saw many thrilling games. General Chairman Lee Frye and his committee are not amiss in receiving congratulations for a job well done.

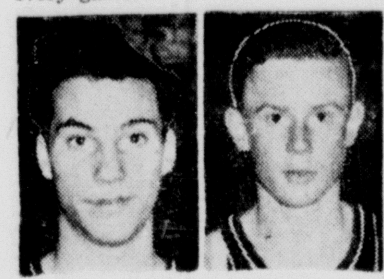

The tourney ended on a swell note with the passing out of awards to the deserving by President of the Optimist Club Otto Pearsall, with Rocco P. Viggiano handling the microphone.

Awards Passed Out

The championship United team received the handsome top trophy, it was presented to Coach Morrison. The following United players received gold basketballs—Jimmy Janacone, Wayne Gray, Al Bucci, John Robinson, Gordon Kerr, Ben Korab, Dale Kegarise, Scotty Morrison and Don Reed.

The following members of the runnerup Morella team got gold basketballs—Bob Pitzer, Francis Pitzer, Fred Wimer, Charles (Lefty) Tanner, Johnny McGary, Eddie Nahas, Jimmy Dart, Al Christopher, Ronnie Johns. "Fat" Morella the teams sponsors accepted the second place trophy for his team.

Gray Most Valuable Player. The three judges who sat in on every game in the tourney handed down the following decisions as to the various outstanding stars:

Most valuable player—Wayne Gray.

Highest scorer in tourney—Fred Wimer, 65.

Best foul shot 10 or more—Fred Wimer 75 plus.

First all-tourney team—Don Reed, Jimmy Janacone, Fred Wimer, Charles Tanner and Wayne Gray.

Second all-tourney team—Carl Jameson, Francis Pitzer, Kenny Cartwright, Fox, John Robinson.

Awards were made to all of these. The judges were—Willie Ciccone, Charles James and Irwin, the judges also were given awards for their services and so were officials—Nickie Ross and Joe Wysocki given awards, all received gold basketballs.

Marvin Kuth coach of the East Brook Boosters received the third place trophy for his team.

United Leads Throughout

As for the championship game itself, the United led throughout the battle—17 to 5 the first period, and at the half 27 to 16. The end of the third period it was 36 to 29. Jimmy "Harp" Janacone was the United scoring star in the game with his 16 points, while Gordon Kerr had 13 and Gray had 11.

Robinson played a great defensive game, as did Al Bucci. Fred Wimer led the Morella team in scoring with 19, while Fran Pitzer had eight and McGary had five.

The Morellas were not the club that beat Ellwood the night before. The United was hotter than firecrackers and had the determination to win. The United in winning the title held by East Brook last year—upset the CIO No. 3125, East Brook and Morellas in achieving their greatness.

ELLIOTS WIN THREE

Titans Conclude Season With Win Over Tech 59-55

Thrilling Rally Nets Win Over Inspired Tartans; Crowd Honors Dembinski

Westminster's towering Titans came from behind in the last quarter Saturday night to rack up their fifty-ninth consecutive home win at the expense of Carnegie Tech, 59 to 55.

The game marked the end of the campaign for both quints. The Blue and White basketballers compiled a record of 15-3, while Tech has won 8 and lost 13.

The Tartans, who were expected to be just another figure in the Titans' seemingly endless streak of home victories, played a brilliant brand of basketball, most of the way before succumbing to one of the most thrilling closing rallies seen on the Titan hardwood this season.

Chetlin Hot

Westminster had a 12 to 10 lead at the end of the first period and the visitors were refusing to play dead as had been expected. Chetlin, sharp shooting Tech forward, gave a few clues of things to come by connecting for 4 field goals in that first period.

Tech star, Mike Theodore, controlled both of the bankboards for most of the game and his fast break through the middle enabled the Tartans to take a 28-25 lead at half time.

Coach Bill Donohoe's boys spurred to a 38 to 29 lead midway in the third canto and a major upset in district cage circles appeared in the making. However, Titan spark-plug, Jackie Jones, made two quick field goals in the final minutes of the quarter to bring Westminster to within 1 point of the Plaid, 42-41.

Honor Dembinski

Sensing that the services of Captain Chet Dembinski would be needed throughout the final chapter, the crowd gave the big center a rousing two-minute demonstration of their appreciation of his four years of splendid service on the Titan team between periods.

The extremely likable New Kensington lad notched 946 points during his tenure with the Titans and was real hustler throughout his college career. He is the only senior on the Westminster squad but his services will be missed plenty come next basketball season.

Tech jumped into a 50-44 lead early in the last quarter when Dick Furber re-entered the contest. He, Wagner and Dembinski closed the gap to 53-48 with four minutes remaining. Dandy Dick from East Brady then stole the ball and added a field goal. Wagner pumped in another and Jackie Jones sent the Titans ahead 54-53 with another field. The Titans never lost the lead after that but the closeness of the contest required frequent tactics during the final minutes.

Jackie Jones High

Jackie Jones took scoring honors with 16 points for the victors. Dembinski added 15 and Don McCullough came through with 13 more.

Mike Theodore and Chetlin split 25 for the winners. Chetlin missed considerable action because he committed four personal fouls in the contest. Theodore was forced out in the last period because he had committed his fifth personal.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

LOCAL SPORTSMEN Sunday witnessed airplanes drop corn to wild-life in the big woods. Some made the trip to Bald Mashannon airport by plane, and others by auto. . . Elkins Brothers are under a new management, according to a 'phone call by Homer Gray, former middleweight, to Here & There. . . Gray is an uncle of Elkins. He reports Brothers will box some opponent March 9 in Toledo. . . Tommy Leach, matchmaker, JAC, has been forced to pass up an opportunity of showing Gorgeous Georges, the matman, here March 21, due to his inability to rent The Arena, that night. . . Gorgeous Georges is of the new type of wrestler, who depend upon incongruous grappling to earn their cakes. However, some fans relish the burlesque on wrestling because it is a good show. . . Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Dunn, Sharon, the former a brother of Jimmy, now in Las Vegas, who are former residents, visited New Castle, Saturday. . . It appears the legislature may hold the cost of a hunting license to $3, instead of $3.65, as proposed by the Game Commission, which had the backing of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Sportsmen. The Senator Hare (R) bill, calling for $3, will reach the floor Tuesday. In the House, Rep. Edwin Tompkins, (R) has introduced a bill fixing the hunting-trapping license at $3.15. The bill would boost the agent commissions from 10 to 15 cents for resident licenses and from 25 to 35 cents for non-resident ($25). Tompkins' bill requires that at least $12.50 of the revenue from each of the 800,000 resident licenses sold "shall be used exclusively for the planting and restoration of game wood and cover areas. Other sport bills submitted in the House would: Legalize ice hockey and basketball on Sundays by local option (Galagher); allow the game commission to pay for deer damage to fruit lagers; (Clapper); legalize howling alley operation after 2 p. m. Sundays without local option voting on the issue (Heatherington), and give land owners and occupants equal voting rights with licensed hunters in deciding an open or closed seasons for antlerless deer by counties (Goodling-Shoemaker).

Sucker fishing is in. However, anglers should not fish for suckers in streams which have been stocked with trout. . . American Kennel Club Obedience trials were held by the Beaver County Kennel club, Saturday at the New Brighton Armory. . . Towell trophy event for Beagles, was run yesterday by the Shenango Valley Beagle club at their training area, near Volant. . . Lawrence County Sportsman's association held trap and skeet shooting at their Harbor bridge farm yesterday. . . STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 7.—(INS)—The resignation of John D. Lawther as basketball coach for Pennsylvania State college was announced today by Dr. Carl P. Schott, dean of the school of physical education and athletics.

Assistant coach Elmer A. Gross was named to succeed Lawther who will continue on the physical education faculty.

During the years, Lawther-coached basketball teams at Penn State ran up a record of 149 victories and 93 defeats. Saturday night's 61-42 victory by Penn State over Georgetown boosted his 1948-49 record to seven wins against 10 losses.

Including his 10 years at Westminster, Lawther's life-time coaching record covers 315 victories and 128 defeats.

Al Koszela Stars With 17 Points As Polish Falcons Ring Up 17th Win

The Polish Falcon's won their seventh game of the year Sunday afternoon with an easy victory over the Sharon VFW by a score of 66 to 43.

Al Koszela continued his sensational play as he rang up 17 markers to lead the Falcon scoring attack. The best for the Sharon five was Senuy with 11 points.

In the preliminary the Polish Falcon Reserves defeated the East Side Shamrocks by a score of 39 to 33. Owoc and Fonka paced the Falcons in scoring.

Tuesday evening the Polish Falcons will meet the Alpha Sig fraternity of Westminster college. This game should be an interesting encounter as the Alpha Sigs will bring with them former stars of the Westminster varsity. In the preliminary at 7:15 the Falcon Reserves will meet a fast local team.

Chandler Faces $5,000,000 Suit

Ten Former Big Leaguers Who Jumped To Mexico, Ask For Enormous Sum

ST. LOUIS, March 7.—(INS)—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch has reported that a New York attorney is preparing a five-million dollar suit against A. B. Chandler, baseball commissioner, in behalf of 10 former major league ball players.

The newspaper said yesterday that the attorney is John L. Flynn who admitted the suit is based on the chief complaint that the players have been barred by Chandler's action from earning a livelihood.

Jumped To Mexico

Players named by the Post-Dispatch were given five-year suspensions for alleged violation of major league contracts in "jumping" to the Mexican baseball league.

Those listed by the newspaper as joining in the threatened suit are Max Lanier, Lou Klein and Fred Martin, all former St. Louis Cardinals; Myron "Red" Hayworth, former St. Louis Browns and Toledo player and the following former New York Giants: Sol Maglio, Roy Zimmerman, Harry Feldman, George Hausmann and Ace Adams.

The other player in the proposed court action is Luis Olmo, former Brooklyn outfielder.

Mickey Owen, former Brooklyn catcher, was reported by the Post-Dispatch as trying to discourage filing of the suit.

The Post-Dispatch stated that Louis Carroll, National League attorney, denied he had any knowledge of such a suit being prepared.

Please note that the captain or manager of the prospective team must bring along on the night of April 15 the completed entry blank and legal proof of date of birth. Any blank that is not properly
